

LEGACY REPORT

Scottish Borders Community Led Local Development Fund (CLLD)

2024-25

Summary

The Scottish Borders Local Action Group (LAG) was set up approximately 20 years ago and since then have been working with organisations to improve life in the Borders. During 2024/25 the LAG awarded funding to a wide range of community and business projects under Community Led Local Development funding (CLLD).

During 2024 a fund was launched worth £576,745 to help support community projects on the condition that the projects completed within the year by Feb 2025. The LAG funded a total of 52 projects, the majority of which are summarised in this document.

The LAG is formed of local people and organisations working together to improve life in the borders across 4 focus areas:

Social Inclusion

Projects focused on marginalised groups' participation in society by breaking down social barriers, promoting belonging.

Poverty Alleviation

Poverty Alleviation
Projects aim to alleviate poverty through life skills, community development, social safety nets, improving wellbeing and economic resilience.

Net Zero

Projects focused on reducing carbon emissions, promoting renewable energy, and enhancing climate resilience, aiming for environmental sustainability.

Young People

Projects prioritising support for individuals and groups under 30. Focusing on mental health, underrepresented communities, skill building, entrepreneurship, and rural poverty.

Impact Summary

Across three key themes—net-zero initiatives, poverty alleviation, and social inclusion—the LAG allocated a total of £363,446 to support 33 diverse projects, each contributing to the wellbeing of communities across the Scottish Borders.

In addition, the LAG extended its support to the Youth LAG (YLAG), awarding £146,664 to fund 20 youth-led projects. These initiatives reached hundreds of young people, empowering them to lead and shape positive change within their communities.

Together, these efforts have had a meaningful impact across the region—promoting sustainability, tackling social challenges, and nurturing the next generation of community leaders.

The Social Value Engine

What is the Social Value Engine?

The Social Value Engine (SVE) is a tool designed to measure, track, and evidence the social value generated by projects and investments. It employs established methodologies to convert social outcomes into financial values, assisting organisations in measuring and communicating the impact of their activities on the community.

<https://socialvalueengine.com/>

How are social value outcomes measured and reported?

SVE operates by applying proxy values to the social outcomes of projects or services. These proxies are grounded in rigorous research and align with UK Government guidelines. Users input data about their project, and the Engine calculates the social value in monetary terms.

Social value outcomes are measured using a combination of direct data input by users and proxy values from the Engine's database. Users report on the specific activities and outcomes of their project, and the Engine calculates the equivalent monetary value of these outcomes. Reports can be generated directly from the platform, offering both summary and detailed views of the social value created.

More details on other projects can be found in the Youth Poverty Alleviation Section below

Neurodivergent Entrepreneurs Network

Many neurodivergent people struggle in conventional work situations. The creation of the Neurodivergent Entrepreneurs Network (NEN) was supported up by one of the LAG members in a partnership with local neurodivergent people to support neurodivergent entrepreneurs.

The LAG chose to fund 4 projects put forward by individual members of the network. The LAG felt it was important to support this part of this community because of the challenges faced:

- 82% of non-disabled people are in work, falling to 54.2% for disabled people and just 30.2% for autistic people
- Disabled employees earn 12.7% less on average, with autistic people facing the largest pay gap at 27.9%

These figures highlight deep inequalities but also significant untapped potential. By directing investment towards neurodivergent entrepreneurs, the NEN aimed to remove barriers, unlock innovation, and drive inclusive local economic development that benefits whole communities.

The LAG funded the entrepreneurs whose projects were to:

- Create and launch the We Speak Tangent podcast using an interview format to showcase relatable role models
- Create space for neurodivergent entrepreneurs at all stages (including pre-start) to connect, share ideas, and build supportive community networks
- Set up and develop peer-to-peer facilitated coaching
- Provide training and employment support for neurodivergent people.

"The funding helped me produce, edit and put out a podcast interviewing Neurodivergent Entrepreneurs in the South of Scotland which was called We Speak Tangent."

"Every day I'm using the equipment I bought to help me, so even though I got the grant nearly a year ago it's still helping me now!"

"As a professional, I felt that what I took away from the session was a true to-life representation of a neurodivergent individual finding their place and forging their path. I would recommend the podcast to anyone who really wants to understand the struggles that are faced from those first hand"

Sadly, two projects were forced to cancel as the neurodivergent person had received no continuation funding from Access to Work in nearly a year after applying. This served to illustrate the challenge faced by disabled people.

However, the other projects were a great success including:

We Speak Tangent

We Speak Tangent - a 24 episode podcast brought to you by the Neurodivergent Entrepreneurs Network, by neurodivergent people, for neurodivergent people. We Speak Tangent interviews neurodivergent entrepreneurs, telling the story of their journey to become entrepreneurs as relatable role models. We Speak Tangent aims to inspire neurodivergent people and help provide the information and connections they need to action their ideas and set up their own businesses.

We Speak Tangent and the Neurodivergent Entrepreneurs Network is produced in partnership with the South of Scotland Enterprise.

Background

Each year, the LAG supports youth poverty alleviation schemes led by youth groups and other applicants. While this approach has been effective in certain areas (where groups regularly receive funding) the LAG observed that other areas were consistently underrepresented.

Through Youth Borders and other partners, the LAG received concerning reports from some of the region's most deprived areas, describing young people wandering the streets in the evenings having had no food all day. Further investigation revealed that many of these children came from households where parents or carers were working long hours in low-paid jobs, struggling to provide daily meals for their families.

The Borders has always been one of the lowest paid areas in the UK. With salaries not matching inflation, poverty, especially youth poverty has massively increased. All evidence whether from the Third or Public sector has shown an increase in those severely struggling with the cost of living and the negative impact this has on our young people.

As a result, in 2024/25 the LAG decided to take a different approach of being proactive rather than reactive for Tranche 2 funds. Using Human Learning System principles it was decided to take a co-design/co-production approach, rather than a competitive approach which would inevitably lead to some areas missing out due to different capacity to apply.

Through Youth Borders an approach was made to all strategic/local youth groups. They were offered funding for specific activities related to providing food and opportunities for young people, providing they adopted a need-based collaborative approach where they decided between them on the best use of funds available. This approach ensured all areas of the Borders were covered. Recognising that those in social housing are amongst the most deprived young people, the scheme was also opened to housing associations.

Aims

Work with others in partnership to reduce youth poverty by:

- Providing food and a warm space for young people in need during school holidays when there is no access to school meals.
- Support young people (and their parents) to learn how to cook and budget for themselves.
- Offer opportunities for them (particularly during holidays) to have experiences that other young people have, to broaden their horizons and realise there are many approaches to life.
- Receive mental health or other required support.

Activities

Through partnership working with other strategic stakeholders

- Offer all strategic Youth Groups and Housing Associations funding for poverty alleviation and youth opportunities to be completed before end of April 2025.
- Ensure that all identifiable young people needing food receive good quality nourishment over the winter period.
- All organisations will provide Social Value Engine and other data detailing activities and impacts.

Approach

A total of 12 projects was funded for a combined total of £152,000 as laid out below:

Cheviot Youth	Training for support adults	£7,830.00
BYP Connect	Freeing up funds to allow drop ins	£5,000.00

Feedback was received that we were potentially missing some of the most vulnerable young people and especially their parents and as there was underspend by some Tranch1 projects the following projects were also awarded funding:

Scottish Borders Housing Association were awarded a total of £27,050 for their “Warm & Well” and “Selkirk Cook Club” projects

Waverley Housing Association received £3000 for their “Building Memories” and “New Year New Start”

Youth Borders received £2000 to support their work on encouraging young people not to vape (or smoke)

Youth LAG

The Youth Local Action Group was set up by LAG to give young people in the Borders a chance to make decisions to help other young people.

The YLAG does a wide range of activities and over the past few years has visited the Scottish Parliament and met the First Minister, other Ministers and MSPs. The volunteers on the YLAG had the chance to meet other YLAGs from across Scotland and take part both in serious influential discussions and fun activities.

The YLAG are all young people between the ages of 12-26 who give their time for free. They are supported in their efforts by Youth Borders.

This year the Youth LAG invested the money they were given to:

Word from the Chair

As Chair of the Scottish Borders Local Action Group, it is great to see another year filled with varied projects and the success these have been in our local communities.

We have seen significant progress in empowering our communities and advancing sustainable development across the region. Through investment and local partnerships, the projects have tackled urgent challenges such as poverty and social exclusion, while also laying the groundwork for a greener, more resilient future.

This year's programme has supported a diverse range of initiatives, each contributing meaningfully to local communities, from small starter projects to larger scale partnerships the outcomes have been both inspiring and transformative.

What stands out is the collective commitment shown by our communities. Their passion and innovation have been the driving force behind the success of this programme. Together, we are building stronger, more inclusive communities that are equipped to thrive in the face of future challenges.

This year's achievements are a testament to what can be accomplished when we work together with purpose and vision. I look forward to continuing to support more projects this year.
